

Sustainability Policy

Coolair Services Ltd are a highly recognised air conditioning installation and maintenance contractor based in Bredbury, Stockport, servicing customers in the UK. The work we do supports a wide range of industries and businesses.

We strive to work alongside our customers to adopt environmentally practices within our own and our customers sites.

We recognise the affect our business practices may have on the environment and have adopted an Environmental Management System to help us reduce / control, where possible, the impact our actions have on the environment.

Our greatest impacts are:

- Climate change
- Water conservation
- Control of ozone depleting substances
- Recycling of waste

The objectives / goals we work to for reducing environmental impact are:

- Complying with all relevant environmental and other applicable legislation
- Controlling waste prevention and management
- Collaboration with business partners/customers
- Striving to continually improve our environmental performance

To achieve our objectives / goals we strive to:

- Consider environmental concerns and impacts as part of our decision making processes
- To reduce the extent practicable the quantity and degree of hazard of the waste that we generate from our operations
- We collaborate with all our suppliers and customer to protect and improve the environment
- Promote environmental awareness among our employees and encouraging everyone to work I an environmentally responsible manner
- Educate our employees about environmental issues that may affect their work
- Promote efficient use of materials and resources throughout our offices
